public. We failed to get the name of the gentleman who responded for Knoxville.

We have dashed off this rapid and hurried account under many disadvantages, owing to the want of accurate information respecting the details, which we, in some instances, failed to get on account of our being unable to be at two or more places at the same time. Reporters are supposed to be abiquitous, and to fulfil their mission successfully, they should be so, but unfortu-nately they are not. We should probably have endeavored to be more minute in our notice af the dinner, but we learn that a full and correct report is now being prepared for the press, which we will try and publish

Thus ends the festivities and ceremonies of a day which will long be remembered, and which is destined to fill an important page in the future history of the country. It forms a remarkable ern in the progress of Southern commerce and civilization, and is destined to link more closely the different sections of a country, whose welfare, interests and destiny must ever be identical. The active energy and enterprise of the age, linked with the magic power and progressive agency of steam, has annihilated space, and locked the hitherto remote points of the South and West in the affectionate embraces of brotherhood.

The following comprises a list of the Regular Toasts of the evening:

1. The City of Memphis - One of the brighten jewels upon the brow of the Father of Waters. Her enterprise, her intelli-gence, and her hospitality, are imbued with the grandeur and magnificence of the scenery by which she is surrounded. May she forever thurish, a focus of beauty, wealth and refinement; and may her Inture greatness, even still more than her present prosperity, verify the prediction; "Westward the coaste of empire takes its way."

2. The City of Huntsville -- The levely home of fair women and brave men; of ele-gant refinement and generous hospitality. A favored bridesmaid at the nuptials of the Mississippi and Atlantic; may she share largely in the profitable investments of the bride and groom.

3. The City of Nushville -- The beautiful and cultivated Capitol of a great and rising State; the mart of a garden land. It is her privilege to combine the dignity of the planter, the energy of the merchant, and the fame of the statesmen in the beaming chaplet of her distinction.

4. The City of Savannah -- The compeer of Charleston in opening the communication between the fer ife valleys of the Southwest and the Atlantic seaboard. In their inexhaustible products, there is ample room and verge enough for the enterprise and prosperity of both.

5. The City of Augusta-Occupying an important position on the lines of communieation between the Atlantic and the Father of Waters, the scaboard and the mountains are alike bound to her by interest and af-

The only tribute she levies is the affection and gratitude of those who partake of her unbounded hospitality.

7. Chattanooga - Nature's Sentinel-the lookout point in the path of Southern prosperity and greatness.

The City of Macon, -Commanding in position and distinguished for her enterprise and intelligence, the future is full of provise to her commercial greatness and prosperity.

9. The City of Knoxville-- The Guardian of the Mountain Pass; the great highway between the North and the South, the East and the West. The iron horse is to her the harbinger of unbounded prosperity. 10. The Southern States-Politically and socially, they have one Faith, one Hope, one Destiny.

11. The Memphis and Charleston Rail road-A Covenant of Peace between the Eastern Monarch of Demand and the Western Giant of Supply.

12. Southern Agriculture -- Give it fair play and it will supply materials for the manufactures and the commerce of the en tire world

12. Southern Women - As daughters, wives and mothers, filling the tenderest and dearest relations of our nature; they form the strongest as well as the sweetest bond of Southern Union.

SOUTHERN WOMEN .- A letter in the Boston Chronotype contains the following just tribute to our fair citizens. As we but rarely see the truth so promptly expressed relative to anything belonging to the South—in that region particularly—we copy it in compliment to all concerned:

The first thing that struck me in regard to the women at the South was their beauty of form-their symmetrical and harmonious figures. In this and in the ease and grace of their motions they excel Morthern women. Many of them dress with exquisite taste; often very richly, but seldom gandily, or with any display of tinsel. The proverbial affability and urbanity of the Southern character ands the fullest development in the women. The Southern lady is naturally and necessarily easy, unembarrassed and polite. You may go into the country where you please; you may go as far as you pleasa from town, village and post office; you may call at the poorest house you can find, and whether you accout maid or matron, you will be answered with the same politeness, and treated with the same spor aucous courtesy.

A l'ATRIOTIC FAMILY.-Judge Butler, the distinguished U. S. Senator of South Carolina, who died a few days ago, was a son of Gen. William Butler, of Virginia, who served in the revolutionary war. His mother was also taken prisoner during the revolution. Of six brothers, (all now dead.)
sine was an office; in the U.S. Navy and a member of Congress, and a third. Pierce
M., was at one time Governor of South Carolina. The latter was killed while lead-ing on the Palmetto regiment at the battle of Churubusco, where a relative of Judge Butler also fell, and in which his nephew, the late Preston S. Brooks, gallantly par-Heipsted.

na, has been in our city for several days.— He expresses himself highly delighted with our city. He purposes visiting Omaha city, in Nebraska. He has been a member of Congress for eight successive years from his native State, South Carolina, and so great was his popularity that after his first election in 1848, he has had no opposition, and now declines a re-election, though he has one or two yet to serve.

After the speaking was over between Dr. Stringfellow and Gen. Whitfield, on Wednesday last, at the Planter's House, the crowd called upon Mr. Orr for a speech .-He appeared, and after thanking them for the call thus flatteringly made, declined .-He said the time had now come for Kansas to take her position as a State in the Union, and for the people to settle their own questions for themselves without any outside influence. He had denounced this interference in others from remote States, and it would be improper in him to lay himself liable to the same charge .-- Kansas Herald, May 23.

CHICAGO, June 6 .-- A serious riot ocouted at Medina, Winnebago county, on the 4th inst., between the contractors and laborers on the Ricine and Mississippi Rail-The citizens were required to arm themselves against the rioters. Two men vere killed, and a number seriously injured. The sheriff of Winnebago county was sent for. The excitement in the vicinity was in-

"Reference".—Under the above caption, the Selma (Ala.) Tri-Weekly Reporter, chronieles the cowhiding of a gay Lothario of that city, by a couple of young lidies, one of whom he had been dancing attendance upon for some time, and whom he had subsequently slandered. Ardent as as a Southern sun could make them, and justly indiguant at the conduct of their calumniator, they feathered in upon him, and applied the lash with a vigor, that caused the slanderer to withe with pain. Finding his only safety was in ingloriously vamosing, he did so through the window of the second story of a building, the ladies having taken the precaution to lock the door previous to commence the "refreshing" repast. He landed upon terra firma, however, without serious injury, and incontinently left his assailants in possession of the field. This is what our Selma cotemporary denominates refreshing;" but with all due deference to the Reporter, we must declare that we should have a decided aversion to being refreshed in any such way. Strawberries and cream are decidedly more preferable.

JOHN BULL AND BROTHER JONATHAN .--We are enabled to inform our readers at last, that the event which we have so often indicated, and which has been so anxiously looked for, on this side of the Atlantic, is at last enlisted to come off. Lecompte, Prior and Prioress, says the Spirit of the Times, the three gallant coursers which were sent from this country last on, to confront the renowned champions of the English turf, apon their own ground, and at their own terms, are entered for the great Goodwood Cup! John Bull and Brother Jonathan are, therefore, fairly pitted against each other for the third time, and if we win, the victory vill redound as largely to our credit, as if we again excelled the stout old gentleman in agricultural advantement, or distanced his vessels in speed upon the main

THE NICARAGUA FILLIBUSTERS.—The following melancholy details are the sad closing of Walker's expedition :

"It is estimated that, during two years of 2.500 enlisted or holding commission under Walker, about 1,000 were killed or died of wounds or sickness, 700 deserted, 250 were discharged, 430 were at Rivas on the 1st of May, and 80 in garrison or on steamers on the river. Total, 2,465-leaving 53 unaccounted for."

It is positively known that he received no less than five thousand recruits from the United States, and as only 1,300 of these are accounted for by desertion, discharge and surrender, the others must have starved or been killed or died of disease.

Two HIGHLY COLORED PICTURES .- Mrs. Nesbit, in Albuny, owns a house which Mrs Scott rents. On Friday, Mrs. N. sent a painter to fix up the house; Mrs. Scott wouldn't let him go aliead; painter reported progress to Mrs. N.; Mrs. N. put on her bonnet and off "to see about it;" while seeing about it she got hold of a paint brush and daubed Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Scott got the other brush and daubed back again; painter rushed to the resone; Mrs. Scott up with the paint pot and deluged painter with the contents; painter rushed off to the police office; but before he got back the two women had painted each other so that they couldn't tell "which was which." [Exchange.

A STRANGE BIRD. -Dr. Thurston, of Van Buren, Arkansas, recently shot a bird which puzzles the oldest settlers, hunters, and naturalists in that latitude, some of whom think it a bittern and others a stork. The Intelligence describes it thus: "Height, when standing, five feet three inches; breadth of wing six feet eight inches; length of back nine inches. Upon the whole it was a master specimen of the bird kind, possessing the atrangest and most fantastic coat of plans we the standard of possessing the strangest and most fantastic coat of plumage that we have ever looked upon; has the exterior of an American fowl, its plumage on the scapular region being as black as a raven, and resembling the ostrich feathers, while its head, back, neck and sides, were gaudily bedecked with long delicate ribbon-like feathers of every hue and color that belong to the rainbow, hung in clusters and wreaths about his graceful birdship, beautiful beyond all conception, unless compared with the famous bird of Paradise, It proved to be not only an entable bird, but one of the most delicious fowls we have ever esten of." A Western editor and his wife were walking out in the bright moonlight one evening: The wife was of an exceedingly

OBITUARY.

Diep, on the 28th ult.. in Pickens district, Mrs. Emily Sloan, consort of A. J. Sloan, aged 34 years and 19 days. She was received into the communion of the Presbyterian church, at Bethol, in 1841. For over sixteen years she followed her Saviour through evil as well as good report.—She died in the triumphant hope of a blessed immortality. She patiently bore her sickness, being confined to her bed for three weeks, showing to all who saw her that she had been changed, and that her hope was in God. As her life was consistent, her death was peaceful, passing away without a groan or struggle. Her bereaved husband, with two little children, mother and a large circle of relatives and friends, are consoled in our DIED, on the 26th ult., in Pickens district, Mrs band, with two little conderen, mother and a large circle of relatives and friends, are consoled in our freparable loss, in the hope that our loss is her eternal gain. Will the Lord lead us so talive that our ast end may be peace. "Blessed are dead who die in the Lord."
